Ok I was born in Vrede in the Freestate, I was grew up in a Afrikaans house mainly but my mother was English. She was brought up English and my father was Afrikaans, so he refused that we were brought up in English. But my mother secretly taught us some English, to some extent, not much. Then I was mainly in a Afrikaans high school and primary school and secondary school, but in high school, I was (Um) in high school I was in a double medium school. Which also I talked a lot of English there, because all of our school ensembles was in English, so that got me used to English and then afterwards I came to Joburg to do and then I was obviously very, I spoke a lot of English in Joburg because Joburg is mostly English. Thank You.
